The centrepiece of Ireland's Ancient East.

Navan is located in the heart of the Boyne Valley, an area steeped in Irish history. Take a stroll out of the town to enjoy the spectacular sights from the Hill of Tara, a sacred site that acted as the inauguration site of the High Kings of Ireland.

Or complete the beautiful Boyne Ramparts Walk, a linear stretch of 8km pathway that runs from Navan to Stackallen that takes in Babe's Bridge (the oldest bridge on the river) and passes by the ruins of Dunmoe Castle and Ardmulchan Church.

Your local community.

It boasts an energetic traditional shopping heart, with artisan stores and boutiques in the town centre and several retail parks located on the outskirts of the town. But there is much more to discover about this town that is steeped in history and can trace its origins to the Normans in the 12th century.

A neighbourhood built for families

As Ireland's fifth largest town, Navan is packed with amenities for all the family, including excellent shopping, great sporting facilities, wonderful restaurants and cosy pubs.

Something for everyone.

Navan is a particularly good location for excellent schools. St Oliver's, St Paul's (new school currently under construction) and Scoil Naomh Eoin are primary schools within walking distance of Ruxton Oaks, while St Patrick's Classical School, St Joseph's Mercy, St Michael's Loreto, Coláiste na Mí and Beaufort College are well-regarded and established secondary schools located in Navan.

The outdoor enthusiast in Co Meath is certainly spoiled for choice. There are a host of sporting and recreational facilities in Navan – from the rival Simonstown and O'Mahony's GAA clubs, the famed Navan Rugby Club.

Golfers are particularly spoiled for choice between Royal Tara, Headfort, Killeen Castle and Knightsbrook golf clubs, while anglers – or amblers – are blessed with the glorious and ramblers River Boyne flowing by.

Modern life is easy in Ruxton Oaks' bright, spacious and airy homes, which are finished to the highest of standards. These comfortable homes are thoughtfully designed and feature flexible spaces that can be configured to suit your family's individual needs.

Spacious interiors for modern living.

Rooms are large and comfortable, offering attractive spaces for all the family to enjoy. Open-plan living and dining spaces, along with a high-spec modern kitchen, are ideal for gatherings of all sizes, from simple family breakfasts to sophisticated dinner parties.
