Blackwater Mill Navan Co. Meath

INTRODUCTION

The property is located close to the heart of Navan Town Centre in a transitional area and adjacent to high density existing residential & commercial development, with a large number of residential & commercial developments in the locality planned in the short future.

The lands is located just to the North of Navan Town Centre adjacent to the inner relief road and east of Beaufort Road.

Navan is a large satellite town home to strong local industry including Tara Mines, Europe's largest lead and zinc mine.

Navan is considered a dormitory town and is firmly located in the commuter belt of Dublin City with excellent transport links to Dublin City centre Via Bus and Motorway Network.

Blackwater Mill is a six story ex water mill on the banks of the River Blackwater built 1783 which had subsequently been extended.

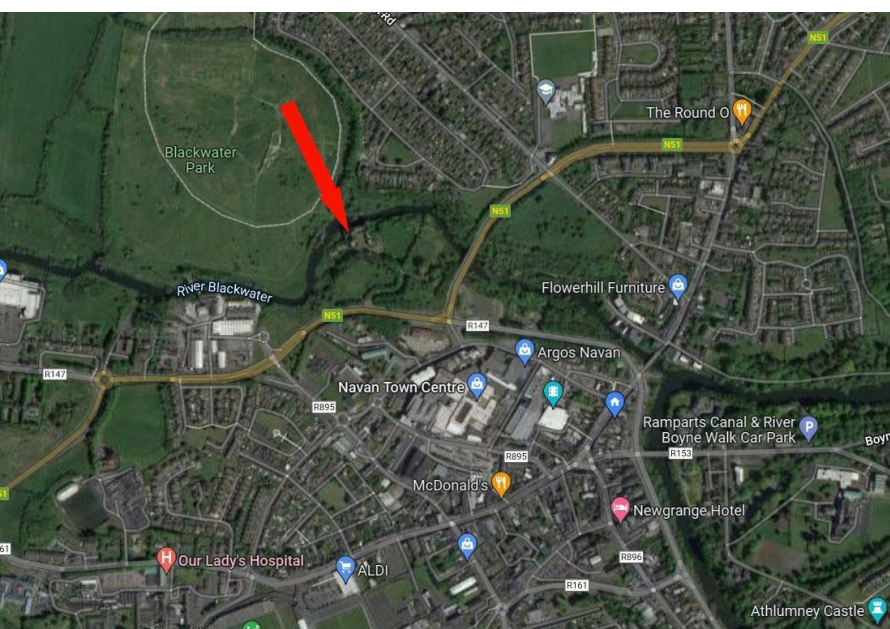

The Mill along with a number of outbuildings and Blackwater House on the lands is currently not in use and would provide the new owners a fantastic opportunity to bring back these truly magnificent buildings to their former glory and potentially incorporate them into a mixed use scheme.

ZONING

The majority of the lands have the benefit from C1 Mixed use zoning which covers the prospect of Residential and Commercial Development subject to the relevant planning permissions

The site is located as part of the MP2 objective outlined in the Navan Development Plan and regeneration of the area along the Blackwater and Boyne area is encouraged.
