INTRODUCTION

This is a spacious residence that has been thoughtfully extended and upgraded over the years, offering a superb blend of comfort and modern living. The original cottage dates back to c.1900.

The property is presented with a range of contemporary features, including a light filled Sunroom, PV panels (14) with two storage batteries, three infrared ceiling panels (kitchen, main bedroom and family bathroom), and a fitted stove (wood and coal burning) - all enhancing the overall efficiency and comfort of the home.

Character features are evident throughout, with attractive stone feature walls in both the front entrance hall and rear hall / garden room, along with a striking brick fireplace that adds to the home's unique charm. Liscannor slate features in the front porch, entrance hall and inner hall floors.

The accommodation is generously proportioned, with spacious bedrooms and excellent living areas. The dining room flows seamlessly into the lounge, while the kitchen extends into the sunroom, creating a bright and open living space. A dedicated study / office area provides an ideal work from home option.

Externally, the property is equally impressive. An automated gated entrance leads to a newly laid tarmac driveway with extensive parking space, complemented by manicured lawns and low maintenance landscaped beds. To the rear, there are extensive gardens bordered by mature trees and carefully planted hedging, offering privacy and tranquility.

There is a feature pond, stocked with fish with a mock well and stream creating a wonderfully relaxed ambience with the sound of running water. There is a timber bridge leading to a raised deck area, surrounded by colourful planting and providing a picturesque view from the sunroom.

Additional outdoor features to the rear include a greenhouse, stable, workshop / garage and log shed, along with a paddock separated from the main garden by mature hedging. A variety of trees, including a pear, apple and plum, and a fruit cage garden protecting soft fruits from bird attention, including raspberries, tayberries, blackcurrants, gooseberries.

The property is situated in a highly regarded area within a beautiful countryside setting yet ideally located with convenient access to main routes to Dublin.
